Suddha,
Looks like everything is resolved concerning the samples addressed in the original email below.
Thank you for the clarification.

Yes, all the responses in red are correct. The discrepancy between R3-FTP shipping COC and R3 receiving COC (in HW19) caused some confusion. Yes, we received the samples.

This is what was missing in the shipment table. See response.

Here are the responses. If Anching could verify that we received all those samples that would be great. (Who is C. Davis? is that the FedEx guy? see the HW19 response)

Here is a summary of the completeness check for samples up to this week.

- Missing sample - HW01 was not shipped to R9 for dissolved gases. R9 is using the extra vial provided for TPH. This is correct. Dissolved Gasses were not sent for HW01.
- HW19 is missing total metals, anions, alcohols, glycols, and O&G. These samples were sent in a cooler containing 3 COCs (3-043013577-012412-0012, -0013, -0014). The samples in question were all listed on COC 3-043013577-012412-0014. The cooler was signed for by C. DAVIS on 01/25/12 at 10:16 (FedEx airbill # 8417 6908 4246).
- HW25 is missing everything - probably did not sample for HW25 (only an HW25-P) This is correct. Sample HW25 was not collected.
- HW26 and HW26-P are missing VOAs, dissolved gases and GRO. The VOAs were sent to the Region 3 Lab in a cooler containing 46 sample containers under COC 3-020112-101622-0057. The cooler was signed for by C. DAVIS on 02/02/12 at 10:18 (FedEx airbill # 7931 7933 4606). The Dissolved Gasses and GROs were sent to the Region 9 Lab in a cooler containing 48 sample containers under COC 3-020112-102057-0058. The cooler was signed for by D. THOMPSON on 02/02/12 at 09:34 (FedEx airbill # 7931 7939 9566).

I hope this information helps. We have a QC process in place where cooler contents are recorded and checked by a second reviewer. Hopefully the Laboratories can locate the missing samples?

We are trying to finish up the completeness check for all samples but it was brought to my attention that some COCs are not on the FTP site.
